LISTOS CALIFORNIA EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS CAMPAIGN

Far too often, the people and communities hardest hit by natural disasters are those least equipped to survive them. The Listos California Emergency Preparedness Campaign helps highly vulnerable populations get ready for wildfires, earthquakes and floods, before disasters strike. (Listos means “ready” in Spanish.)

Emergency alerts are the cornerstone of readiness and all Californians should receive them. But in too many counties, few people do. To help, we created customized Disaster Directories for all 58 counties in both English and Spanish. Each directory provides:

- A brief profile of the county’s disaster risks
- Relevant vulnerabilities of its residents
- State and local alert resources for
  - General emergencies
  - Earthquakes
  - Wildfires
  - Public Safety Power Shutoffs
- Resources for people who are medically dependent on electricity
- State and county resources on COVID-19

Listos California hopes these Disaster Directories help bridge the gap between people in harm’s way and alerts that save lives. Please note that this directory is accurate as of the date on its cover. Be sure to check the status of any resource for the latest updates.

COUNTY OVERVIEW

MONO COUNTY AT A GLANCE

Mono County: Located in East Central California between Yosemite National Park and the State of Nevada

Major cities: 1 incorporated city (Mammoth Lakes), 2 tribal nations (Bridgeport Indian Colony and Benton Paiute Reservation) and many unincorporated communities

With over 2 million acres of geologically diverse wildland—ranging from the high country of the Eastern Sierra Nevada, where snowfall can reach 600 inches, to the Chalfant Valley, which represents a significant desert area—Mono County faces significant exposure to natural hazards. All of Mono is situated within Seismic Zone 4, creating a high susceptibility to earthquakes and landslides. With its sparse population and limited access routes, many of Mono’s roadways cross under significant avalanche paths, creating an evacuation vulnerability for much of the county. With extreme weather and storm conditions occurring regularly, there is a significant potential for frequent and widespread wildland fires.

MONO COUNTY BY THE NUMBERS

70% Percent of housing units at high to extreme risk of wildfire.

145 Number of earthquakes with a magnitude 4.5 or greater within 25 miles of Mono County since 1980; 94 of which had epicenters within the county borders.

15 Number of destructive avalanche incidents within the last 40 years. Many communities are at increased risk, including Twin Lakes, Long Valley/McGee Creek and Wheeler Crest.

36 The number of homes in Mono County destroyed by the 2015 Round Fire, which burned over 7,000 acres in Mono and Inyo Counties.

56,846 Number of acres within the county at direct risk of fault rupture.

115 Number of structures destroyed in a significant flooding event along the West Walker River in 1997, creating $78 million in damages.

WHAT ARE EMERGENCY ALERTS?

When emergencies and disasters strike, public safety agencies use different types of alerts to send emergency information to your cell phone, landline, radio or television.

What are the main types of Emergency Alerts?

- Wireless Emergency Alerts (WEA) are a national service that sends a vibration, loud tone and short message through your phone if an emergency is nearby. You must have a cell phone that is WEA enabled to receive alerts. You don’t need to sign up and there is no charge to you. You can check the settings in your phone to make sure the alerts are activated.

- The Emergency Alert System can be used by state and local officials to deliver important emergency messages to your TV or Radio.

- Mass Notification Systems like reverse 9-1-1 send an alert to your landline phone if you are in an affected area. Check with your city or county to see if you need to opt into this service.

- Outdoor Warning Sirens warn you to get inside immediately for more information. These can only be heard outside.

- Weather Radios will broadcast loud alert sounds during an emergency. If the power is out and your TV is not working, these radios can still broadcast continuous weather and emergency information specific to your area, 24/7.
